Women Confronting Natural Disaster: From Vulnerability to Resilience

ELAINE ENARSON

“Outstanding.... Compelling and insightful. This book will become a classic in the disaster literature.”

—Lori Peek, Colorado State University

Natural disasters push ordinary gender disparities to the extreme—leaving women not only to deal with a catastrophe’s aftermath, but also at risk for greater levels of domestic violence, displacement, and other threats to their security and well-being. Elaine Enarson presents a comprehensive assessment, encompassing both theory and practice, of how gender shapes disaster vulnerability and resilience.

Elaine Enarson is a cofounder of the Gender and Disaster Network.
